Introduction

From the NJ Core Curriculum Content Standards for Social Studies, revised July 2014

The digital age has transformed social studies education, allowing 21st-century learners to transcend the limits of time and place and experience historic events virtually. By expanding their learning networks through online collaboration with experts and other students from around the world, New Jersey social studies students develop an increased depth of understanding of our global society. At the same time, their understanding of the fundamental principles and values of American democracy and citizenship provides the conceptual framework that allows them to make informed decisions about local, national, and international issues and challenges.

Mission: Social studies education provides learners with the knowledge, skills, and perspectives needed to become active, informed citizens and contributing members of local, state, national, and global communities in the digital age.

Vision: An education in social studies fosters a population that:

- Is civic-minded, globally aware, and socially responsible.
- Exemplifies fundamental values of American citizenship through active participation in local and global communities.
- Makes informed decisions about local, state, national, and global events based on inquiry and analysis.
- Considers multiple perspectives, values diversity, and promotes cultural understanding.
- Recognizes the implications of an interconnected global economy.
- Appreciates the global dynamics between people, places, and resources.
- Utilizes emerging technologies to communicate and collaborate on career and personal matters with citizens of other world regions.

The state standards are designed so that there is a benchmark measure at the end of Grade 4 and another at the end of Grade 8. Not all standards will be taught at each grade level, as long as they are achieved by the end of Grade 4 for students in grades K-4 and by the end of Grade 8 for grade 5 students.

Kindergarten Social Studies Unit 1

Unit Rationale

For many students, kindergarten is the first time they spend significant amounts of time with children outside of their own family and neighborhood. This is an opportunity to learn about what makes each person unique.

Learning Targets

Standards

The New Jersey social studies standards and indicators reflect national and state standards and other documents published by the National Center for History Education, National Council for Social Studies, National Council for Geographic Education, Center for Civic Education, National Council on Economic Education, Mid-Continent Research on Education and Learning, National Assessment of Educational Progress, and the Partnership for 21st Century Skills.

Content Statements

- My identity includes my gender, ethnicity, family, language, and physical self.
- People are unique and important.
- People change over time.

- People have wants and needs.

CCCS #	Focus Standards
6.1.4.A.14	Describe how the world is divided into many nations that have their own governments, languages, customs, and laws.
6.1.4.B.8	Compare ways people choose to use and distribute natural resources.
6.1.4.C.2	Distinguish between needs and wants and explain how scarcity and choice influence decisions made by individuals, communities, and nations.
6.1.4.C.9	Compare and contrast how the availability of resources affects people across the world differently.
6.1.4.D.13	Describe how culture is expressed through and influenced by the behavior of people.
6.1.4.D.18	Explain how an individual's beliefs, values, and traditions may reflect more than one culture.

Unit Essential Questions

- How are people alike and different?
- What are the wants and needs of people?

Unit Enduring Understandings

- People can be alike and different physically, ethnically, with language, by gender, and by personal likes and dislikes.
- People want and need shelter, food, protection, family, love, and friendship.

Unit Learning Targets

- Identify themselves in different ways (e.g., by gender, ethnicity, interests, etc.)
- Understand the difference between a want and a need.
- Identify their own wants and needs.
- Identify ways that people can change.

Evidence of Learning

Summative Assessment

There are a variety of possible summative assessments for this unit that will provide evidence of student learning. Some possibilities include summative projects, summative tests, debates, and demonstrations that verify the knowledge and skills learned. A portfolio should be kept that can demonstrate how students' skills have developed over a period of time.

Grade 5 Social Studies Unit 1

Content Area: Social Studies

Unit Title: The Exploration and Settlement of North America

Grade Level: 5

Unit Summary

This unit explores the early civilizations and cultures of America. It examines European exploration and colonization of North America.

Primary interdisciplinary connections:

- Math – Calculate the measurement (distance, time, etc.) of early exploration routes.
- English Language Arts – Write a narrative from the point of view of an early explorer, an early settler, or a Native American that tells the story of one of the early settlements in America.

21st century themes:

LEARNING AND INNOVATION SKILLS

- CREATIVITY AND INNOVATION
- CRITICAL THINKING AND PROBLEM SOLVING
- COMMUNICATION AND COLLABORATION

INFORMATION, MEDIA, AND TECHNOLOGY SKILLS

- INFORMATION LITERACY

LIFE AND CAREER SKILLS

Unit Rationale

This unit helps to explain why American culture represents a blend of so many other cultures, based on the culture of the Native Americans who lived here and on the cultures that each wave of explorers and settlers brought with them.

Learning Targets

Standards

The New Jersey social studies standards and indicators reflect national and state standards and other documents published by the National Center for History Education, National Council for Social Studies, National Council for Geographic Education, Center for Civic Education, National Council on Economic Education, Mid-Continent Research on Education and Learning, National Assessment of Educational Progress, and the Partnership for 21st Century Skills.

Content Statements

- European exploration expanded global economic and cultural exchange into the Western Hemisphere.
- Gathering and evaluating knowledge and information from a variety of sources, including global perspectives, fosters creativity and innovative thinking.

CCCS #	Focus Standards
6.1.8.A.1.a	Compare and contrast forms of governance, belief systems, and family structures among African, European, and Native American groups.
6.1.8.B.1.a	Describe migration and settlement patterns of Native American groups, and explain how these patterns affected interactions in different regions of the Western Hemisphere.
6.1.8.B.1.b	Analyze the world in spatial terms (e.g., longitude and latitude) using historical maps to determine what led to the exploration of new water and land routes.
6.1.8.B.2.b	Compare and contrast how the search for natural resources resulted in conflict and cooperation among European colonists and Native American groups in the New World.
6.1.8.C.1.a	Evaluate the impact of science, religion, and technology innovations on European exploration.
6.1.8.C.1.b	Explain why individuals and societies trade, how trade functions, and the role of trade during this period.
6.1.8.D.1.a	Compare and contrast gender roles, religion, values, cultural practices, and political systems of Native American groups.
6.1.8.D.1.b	Explain how interactions among African, European, and Native American groups began a cultural transformation.

Unit Essential Questions

- Why did Europeans begin exploring the New World?
- What did Europeans gain from exploring America?
- How can the study of multiple perspectives, belief systems, and cultures help us understand some of the conflicts experienced by early settlers and Native Americans?
- How did the exploration of America change the world?

Unit Enduring Understandings

- The main reasons Europeans explored the New World were the desire to find a shorter water route to Asia, the desire to establish colonies, the desire for gold and other wealth, and the desire to find a solution for religious conflict.
- Europeans gained territory in the form of colonies, natural resources and other wealth, and additional power and respect in the European community.
- The Spanish, English, French, and Dutch set up different types of government in their colonies based on their view of how best to control the new colonies. These systems of government were often very different from those practiced by the Native Americans who lived here. They also brought their own religions and cultural beliefs and practices, which also differed from those of the Native Americans living here. This resulted in conflict as each group felt threatened by differences.
- The exploration of America changed the global economy and power structure as nations gained more territory and influence in larger areas of the world.

Unit Learning Targets

- Identify factors that led to European overseas exploration.
- Describe the early explorers and their motives for exploration of North America.
- Trace the major land and water routes of the explorers.
- Compare the political, social, economic, and religious systems of the Europeans and Native Americans who converged in the Western Hemisphere after 1492.

- Understand the difficulties faced by many of the early settlers in North America.
- Understand the conflicts that arose between the early explores, settlers, and Native Americans.

Content Area: Social Studies

Unit Title: Colonization and Conflict

Grade Level: 5

Unit Summary

This unit further explores the establishment of colonies in America, and also studies the social, religious, and economic impact experienced by colonists based on geographic locations.

Primary interdisciplinary connections:

- Math – Determine the profits earned by various crops in the colonies.
- English Language Arts – create pamphlets for each region of colonies, describing climate, region, population, crops, and reasons for moving there.

21st century themes:

LEARNING AND INNOVATION SKILLS

- CREATIVITY AND INNOVATION
- CRITICAL THINKING AND PROBLEM SOLVING
- COMMUNICATION AND COLLABORATION

INFORMATION, MEDIA, AND TECHNOLOGY SKILLS

Unit Learning Targets Students will ...

- Analyze the cultures and interactions of peoples in the Americas, Western Europe, and Africa after 1450, including the transatlantic slave trade.
- Discuss how millions of Africans, brought against their will to the American colonies, retained their families and their cultures during enslavement.
- Identify the differences between the colonies' geographies, economies, and cultures.
- Understand reasons that might lead someone to come to the American colonies as an indentured servant.
- Describe daily life in the colonies.
- Understand the causes of conflicts between colonists and the Native Americans, and be able to explain why many of those conflicts resulted in war.
- Understand the development and economics of slavery in the American colonies.
- Explain the Triangle Trade and its impact on the economy of the American colonies.
- Describe how the colonies began to govern themselves.
- Explain how rivalries in Europe led to wars in the American colonies.

The New Jersey social studies standards and indicators reflect national and state standards and other documents published by the National Center for History Education, National Council for Social Studies, National Council for Geographic Education, Center for Civic Education, National Council on Economic Education, Mid-Continent Research on Education and Learning, National Assessment of Educational Progress, and the Partnership for 21st Century Skills.

Content Statements

- Britain became the dominant governing force in Colonial America.
- The colonists adapted ideas from European heritage and from Native American groups to develop new political and religious institutions and economic systems, and began to govern themselves more independently as their European leaders were involved in conflicts overseas.

- The colonists created a new government that would give more citizens a voice.
- The war started out badly for the colonists, but Spain and France helped, and the colonists were eventually victorious.
- The founding fathers created a government with a system of checks and balances and political parties so that no one group or region would be able to gain more power over another.

CCCS #	Focus Standards
6.1.8.A.3.a	Examine the ideals found in the Declaration of Independence, and assess the extent to which they were fulfilled for women, African Americans, and Native Americans during this period.
6.1.8.A.3.b	Evaluate the effectiveness of the fundamental principles of the Constitution (i.e., consent of the governed, rule of law, federalism, limited government, separation of powers, checks and balances, and individual rights) in establishing a federal government that allows for growth and change over time.
6.1.8.A.3.c	Determine the role that compromise played in the creation and adoption of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.
6.1.8.A.3.d	Compare and contrast the Articles of Confederation and the United States Constitution in terms of the decision-making powers of national government.
6.1.8.A.3.e	Explain how and why constitutional civil liberties were impacted by acts of government during the Early Republic.
6.1.8.A.3.f	Explain how political parties were formed and continue to be shaped by differing perspectives regarding the role and power of federal government.
6.1.8.A.3.g	Evaluate the impact of the Constitution and Bill of Rights on current day issues.
6.1.8.B.3.b	Determine the extent to which the geography of the United States influenced the debate on representation in Congress and federalism by examining the New Jersey and Virginia plans.
6.1.8.B.3.c	Use maps and other geographic tools to evaluate the impact of geography on the execution and outcome of the American Revolutionary War.
6.1.8.B.3.d	Explain why New Jersey's location played an integral role in the American Revolution.
6.1.8.C.3.a	Explain how taxes and government regulation can affect economic opportunities, and assess the impact of these relations between Britain and its North American colonies.
6.1.8.D.3.b	Explain why the Declaration of Independence was written and how its key principles evolved to become unifying ideas of American democracy.
6.1.8.D.3.c	Analyze the impact of George Washington as general of the American revolutionary forces and as the first president of the United States.
6.1.8.D.3.d	Analyze how prominent individuals and other nations contributed to the causes, execution, and outcomes of the American Revolution.
6.1.8.D.3.e	Examine the roles and perspectives of various socioeconomic groups (e.g., rural farmers, urban craftsmen, northern merchants, and southern planters), African Americans, Native Americans, and women during the American Revolution, and determine how these groups were impacted by the war.
6.1.8.D.3.f	Analyze from multiple perspectives how the terms of the Treaty of Paris affected United States relations with Native Americans and with European powers that had territories in North America.
6.1.8.D.3.g	Evaluate the extent to which the leadership and decisions of early administrations as the national government met the goals established in the Preamble of the Constitution.

6.1.8.D.5.d	Analyze the effectiveness of the 13 th , 14 th , and 15 th Amendments to the United States Constitution from multiple perspectives.

Unit Essential Questions

- How did slavery become so widespread in the United States?
- Why was the Emancipation Proclamation such an important document?
- How did the death of Abraham Lincoln have negative effects on the Southern states after the Civil War?

Unit Enduring Understandings

- Slavery had become a valuable part of the Southern economy, and enabled wealthy plantation owners to become even wealthier. As new states were added to the US, slavery spread.
- The Emancipation Proclamation brought the United States closer to its original goals, as written in the Declaration of Independence and in the US Constitution. It moved to abolish slavery everywhere in the United States and to include former slaves as full citizens of the United States.
- Abraham Lincoln wanted the Union restored, and he did not want to punish the South for their participation in the war. After he died, Reconstruction became very aggressive toward the Southern states, which resulted in years of harsh feelings in the South against the Northern states.

Unit Learning Targets

- Understand how slavery and states’ rights led to the Civil War.
- Understand the differences between the Northern and Southern states in the time before the Civil War.
- Explain how cotton allowed the practice of slavery to increase rapidly.
- Analyze the importance of former slaves such as Frederick Douglass and Harriet Tubman in the Underground Railroad and the abolitionist movement.
- Map the routes of the Underground Railroad.

- Analyze how the fight for women's rights and the fight to end slavery worked together.
- Explain how the Missouri Compromise and the Kansas-Nebraska Act were major steps toward the start of the Civil War.
- Analyze the military approaches of the North and the South, and understand why the Northern army won the Civil War.
- Understand how sharecropping evolved after Reconstruction, leaving many former slaves in slave-like conditions.
